LOCAL KNIGHTS PLAN ELABORATE OBSERVANCE OF COLUMBUS DAY

Bishop Delany Assembly to Hold Annual Communion Tomorrow—Lowell Council, K. of C., to Parade to St. Peter's Monday

It is appropriate indeed that the Knights of Columbus should take a leading part in the observance of the day Columbus, their patron, landed on our shores. The local celebration will be of a two-day nature, the Bishop Delany assembly, fourth degree, holding their annual communion in St. Michael's church tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock, and Lowell council, No. 72, joining in a general observance at St. Peter's church Monday morning at 9 o'clock followed by appropriate exercises at the rooms after mass.

Grand Knight Charles J. Landers of Lowell council, announced his plans to the members in a recent circular. These preliminaries will be carried out morning at 8 o'clock, and Lowell council, No. 72, joining in a general observance at St. Peter's church Monday morning at 9 o'clock followed by appropriate exercises at the rooms after mass.

ROLAND DESILETS WAS HELD UP BY MASKED ROBBERS WITH REVOLVERS

Roland Desilets of 5 Westview street, an employee of Mason and Son, bakers, located at the corner of Powell and B streets, reported to the police this noon that he was held up by two masked men with revolvers, on a lonely road in West Chelmsford, this morning. One of the robbers, he said, wore a white mask and the other, a black mask. They took $20 from him and escaped.

SHENANDOAH 'AT SAN DIEGO

Completes First Transcontinental Flight by a Rigid Airship

To Continue Up Pacific Coast to Washington, Then About Face to Lakehurst

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—The great navy dirigible Shenandoah was moored safely to the mast at North Island early today after the first transcontinental flight by a rigid airship. Ahead of her lay a flight today up the Pacific coast to Camp Lewis, Wash., the about-face for Lakehurst, N. J., and the possibility later of a trip to Hawaii.

The great vessel arrived here in good order, except that two of her motors needed overhauling, despite the hazardous flight over the rocky mountains. Despite winds that swept her fragile sides near jutting peaks and a storm that piled the huge bags of helium gas heavy with snow, the

THE DRUNKEN DRIVER PROBLEM

Court Revises Previous Decision Relative to Tipsy Auto Operators

Fine Will Be Same as Before But Sentence Will Be Suspended

Judge Enright in district court this morning revised his previous decision in the disposal of "drunken driver" cases as far as direct sentences are concerned. Since his attack on alleged highway menaces, the local court had been imposing fine and jail sentences on the convicted parties, but after a conference with the district attorney it has been decided to continue the imposition of the jail sentence in suspended form. That is to say, all persons convicted of operating while drunk in the future will be given a suspended sentence.

WILL ELECT SUCCESSOR TO DR. LAPOUREUX

As predicted exclusively in The Sun of Wednesday, the city council, and the school board will next Tuesday night meet in joint conference to elect a successor to Dr. Joseph Lapoureux, resigned member of the high school building commission.

Tuesday promises to provide a long session or series of sessions for the city fathers. Besides the joint conference with the school board there is scheduled a special meeting of the finance committee of the council and an adjourned session of the main body.

KILL CREW AND TAKE $15,000

Bandits Line Up Auditor and Eight Other Men and Riddle Them With Bullets

Mexican Federal Troops in Pursuit of Bandits, Two of Whom Are Americans

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 11.—B. F. Parker of El Paso, auditor of the Republic Mining company, and eight other men were lined up and shot to death Thursday by bandits, who wrecked a freight train of the Chihuahua & Oriente railroad, 41 miles southwest of Juarez, in a $15,000 payroll hold-up.

The entire train crew was included in the killing. A Mexican customs guard, the only man on the train who was armed, is missing. It is believed he also was slain.

A rail had been removed from a curve in the track where the trains run slowly. The engine, tender and a box car loaded with dynamite, left the track. According to the story received here, the train crew and Parker were marched to near the rear end of the train, where they were required to sit down with their backs against an embankment, their hands raised. Each was shot in the forehead, except one man who apparently ran into the caboose and connected up a field telephone set before the bandits saw him. His body was found in the caboose, shot twice through the chest.

Federal troops are at the scene to start in pursuit of the bandits, two of whom are thought to be Americans.

STILLMAN HOME SCENE OF FIRE

Great House on $8,000,000 Estate Threatened With Destruction Last Night

Wedding Presents of Great Value, Received by Miss Stillman, Saved

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Wedding presents of great value already received by Miss Anne Stillman, who is to be married next week to Henry P. Davison, were threatened with destruction by the fire which last night swept the west wing of Moudonville, the James A. Stillman estate at Pleasantville, N. Y., driving out Mrs. Stillman, her daughter and her young son, Guy.

The fire for a time promised to destroy the great house on the $8,000,000 estate, which Mr. Stillman established soon after his marriage to Mrs. Stillman. Fire apparatus from nearby towns was called and the flames finally were confined to the west wing.

Mrs. Stillman said it would require a great effort to get the house in order for the wedding next Saturday. Servants saved the wedding presents which already were received. After the fire had been extinguished, state police were called to prevent any possible thefts from the damaged wing of the house.

Mrs. Stillman and her children took sudden possession of the estate at the end of last March after her husband, former head of the National City bank, had lost every step in his efforts to divorce his wife and prove Guy illegitimate.

Stillman was in Europe when she moved in.

DEMOCRATS HOLD ANOTHER BIG RALLY IN AUDITORIUM

Women Constitute Greater Proportion of 3000 Auditors—Rousing Speeches by Hon. James M. Curley, Judge Thomas J. Riley and Others

About 3000 persons, a high percentage of them women voters, attended the big democratic rally in Memorial Auditorium last night, presided over by former Mayor John P. Meehan. Hon. James M. Curley, candidate for governor, was the principal speaker. Others were Judge Thomas J. Riley of Malden, Cornelius J. O'Neill of Lowell, John W. Cummings, candidate for lieutenant governor, and Fred W. Mansfield.

The meeting was opened by Thomas J. Fitzgerald who expressed pleasure at the large turnout and made a brief appeal that those not already registered do so at once. He then introduced Hon. John P. Meehan as the presiding officer. Mr. Meehan expressed his gratification at the splendid turnout, saying it showed plainly that the political conscience of the country is on fire and will not be appeased until these political money-changers are

COOLIDGE'S ATTITUDE ON KLAN "KNOWN TO CLOSE FRIENDS"

Sec. Slomp Makes Reply When Asked Where President As He Claimed, Had Declared He Was Not in Sympathy With Hooded Band

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—President Coolidge's attitude towards the Ku Klux Klan "has long been known to those who are in touch with him," C. Bascom Slomp, secretary to the president, wrote in a recent letter to James E. Deery of Indianapolis.

Deery had inquired of Mr. Slomp concerning his recent statement that the president had repeatedly stated that he "was not a member of the order, and is not in sympathy with the aims and purposes."

"Would you be so kind," Mr. Deery wrote, "as to advise me of the time and place and the words used by the president when he stated he was not in sympathy with the aims and purposes of the Ku Klux Klan."

Slomp's reply follows:

"Replying to your inquiry, I am not able, for reasons that I am sure you will understand, to refer you to the exact time when the president has expressed this matter. His attitude regarding it has long been known to those who are in touch with him, and it was to this general understanding that reference was made in my letter."

Following the appearance of Thomas Faustino, the second suspect in the Peabody shooting case of Sept. 15, in district court today on a charge of assault with intent to murder and the continuance of his case until after the grand jury has reported, Faustino was escorted with Capt. David Petrie of the criminal investigation department for more than an hour.

With Faustino when he was taken before Capt. Petrie was his counsel, Cornelius J. O'Neill, and various angles of the case were discussed which may lead to further police activity. Capt. Petrie was silent as to the progress made at the conference, but it is believed new aspects have been uncovered.

Jose F. Souza, the first party arrested in connection with the shooting, was indicted by the grand jury yesterday in three separate counts, charging carrying a revolver without a permit, assault with intent to rob with a dangerous weapon, and assault with intent to murder. He was held in $15,000 bonds for trial.

OUT OUR WAY

Entertainment-Program for C. E. Convention

The Massachusetts Christian Endeavor convention of which the people of Lowell have heard so much recently would not be a convention unless there was a good program of entertainment. For this purpose a music committee and an excursion committee were formed, and both have been working hard from the very start. Miss Gladys J. Paige heads the former committee, while the latter has as its chairman none other than T. R. Williams, boys' secretary of the local Y.M.C.A. With these two active and efficient Endeavorers as leaders the committee will not fall short of the high standards already set by the other convention chairmen and workers. The music committee has been very busy arranging every musical number to be given during this convention, providing pianists for every session and taking charge of the convention choir, made up of local young people. Mr. Warren T. Reid, choir director at the First Baptist church, will direct this choir and great things are anticipated. Mr. Wilfred Kershaw, well known organist, has been engaged as convention organist. Miss Amy French has agreed to be soloist at the concluding service Sunday afternoon, at which time the climax of the four-day convention will be reached. Mrs. James F. Flinnings is the accompanist for the choir and will also play at the Friday morning session, while Miss Sarah Mason, a local pianist of recognized ability, will play at the Saturday morning session. Miss Paige has put a great deal of time and effort into the work of her committee and has been ably assisted by Miss Corina

MISS GLADYS PAIGE

MR. T. R. WILLIAMS

Barlett, vice-chairman, Alice Downey, Herbert Colby, Simon Heyward, Mrs. Harry C. Dawson, Charles Pierce and Edmund Gunther.

The excursion committee has also been busy engaged in planning trips for our C. E. guests to enjoy during their stay with us. Antics have been secured to take them to see such places of interest as Lowell's mile of mills, Fort Hill park, Pawtucket Falls and Lowell's textile school. The last mentioned place will be especially interesting to the Endeavorers as the ribbon for their badges which they will wear at the convention was woven on its looms. Mr. Williams has found a splendid helper in his vice-chairman, Mr. Carl Carlson, as well as in his committee members: Everett Rice, MacDonald, Doris Tucker, Margaret Grace, Leonard Wilcox, Helen Drew, Warren Field, Jr., Kots Southern, Wallace French, Ada Lambertson, William Chapman, Madeline MacDonald, Marion Otto, Charles Otto, Arthur Christensen, Ralph Johnson, Harry Long, Harry Edwards, Dorothy Adams and Bernice Feltner. Surely the visiting Endeavorers will not be lily for lack of entertainment with such a corps of workers at their service, and convention officers feel confident that all will be kept in smooth running order with their assistance.

Shenandoah lazily answered her controls and pulled through the throat-ropes, passes in the mountains at an elevation of more than 7000 feet.

Safely past the last barriers to a successful journey, the Shenandoah's crew leaped light-heartedly to the ground after she was moored at North Island and indulged in a smoke fest.

Admiral W. A. Moffet, chief of the Bureau of Naval Aeronautics, was the first to jump out of the Shenandoah's cabin. He was followed by Commander Zachary Lansdowne.

Referring to the proposed Honolulu trip, Admiral Moffet said the Shenandoah might be brought to the Pacific coast this winter for the navy maneuvers and after that might be taken to Honolulu. He added that in his judgment the Shenandoah would make such a trip more easily than it and the transcontinental crane, referring to the difficulty encountered in crossing the mountains.

Commander Lansdowne said that if possible the Shenandoah would depart for the north before noon, but that departure would depend on reconditioning the motor.

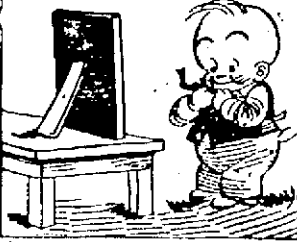

The Shenandoah completed her westward flight at 11:10 o'clock, Pacific coast time, making the last 100 miles at a speed of more than a mile a minute after a battle with hail and snow storms and head winds in San Jacinto mountains.

Heading directly over the mooring mast on North Island, the Shenandoah's signal lights flashed "Are you ready?"

"Ready" was flashed back, and Commander Lansdowne swept the 600 foot cruiser to earth and the landing crew of blue jackets leaped to grasp the mooring lines.

Putting on his venerable connoisseur pipe, Admiral Moffet explained that the arrival had been purposely delayed because a landing late at night would conserve the helium supply.

For that reason the Shenandoah was headed northeast, after Yuma, Arizona, instead of heading straight west, a course that would have brought the Shenandoah here before dark.

Mrs. Scanlan Forced Herself to Keep Up Despite Weakness Until She Found the Right Remedy

Some of the common symptoms of anemia are loss of appetite, indigestion, sleeplessness, shyness of breath after slight effort and extreme nervousness. If unchecked anemia causes weakness and loss of weight, vigor and ambition.

If you have any or all of these symptoms begin treatment now with a non-alcoholic tonic which will make the blood rich and plentiful, thereby giving it the food that is needed by starved nerves. Every part of the body will respond to the treatment as was evident in the case of Mrs. Mary Scanlan, who lives at No. 166 Brooks street, East Boston, Mass.

"My trouble began shortly after the birth of my daughter," relates Mrs. Scanlan. "I was weak and just had to compel myself to keep going. I suffered from severe nervous headaches which seemed to come, and I was unable to sleep. My appetite was poor and when I forced myself to eat I suffered from indigestion. It seemed as though there was a weight on my stomach."

I read about a case similar to mine being benefited by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills so I got a box. Within two weeks I was convinced that the pills were helping me. My appetite improved almost at once. Slowly I gained strength. My complexion improved and the headaches became less frequent and severe and finally disappeared entirely. I cannot say enough for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for I know they are a good tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write today for a copy of the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."

Safe Fat Reduction

Why be fat? The answer of most fat people is that constant dieting, hard, continued exercise is tiresome and exhaustive—and then, too, it might be harmful to force the weight down. That was the old-fashioned way. Now, in Marmola's Prescription Tablets all these difficulties are overcome. Just a pleasant little tablet after each meal and a slim figure comes fast to you. This modern method is easy, entails no dieting or exercising and has the added advantage of cheapness.

Just a box of these tablets and start taking them now. Within a short time you will be getting rid of fat steadily and easily without starvation diet or tiresome exercise. You will be comfortable and able to enjoy the food you like and want. Even after taking off many pounds, there will be no flabby, loose skin remaining. You will feel 100 per cent better. All drug stores the world over sell Marmola's Prescription Tablets at one dollar for a box or the Marmola Company, General Motors Building, Detroit, Mich., will gladly send them to you on receipt of the price—Adv.

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT WORK

Tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Stopped her Suffering and Restored her Health

Momence, Illinois.—"I surely can recommend your medicine to other women who have female weakness, as it has helped me very much in every way possible. I was working in a dining room in town, and sometimes I could not do my work; had pains in the lower part of my body and had to stay in bed. One of my neighbors told me what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for her, and it has surely done wonders for me. I hope all women who suffer will take my advice as the Vegetable Compound has done so much to bring back my vigor and strength." Mrs. ALBERT E. DESCHAU, Momence, Illinois.

Over 121,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?" 98 per cent of these replies answer "Yes."

That is 98 out of every 100 women who take this medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it. For sale by druggists everywhere.

James Players Will Present "Common Clay"

MISS LILLIAN DESMOND

"Common Clay," most conspicuous of any play recently produced, has just been released for stock and will be shown at the Lowell Opera House next week by the Stanley James players. The leading roles will be played by Mr. Gerald Rowan and Miss Lillian Desmond, strongly supported by Mr. Wilmer Walters, Miss Jessie Barrett and other members of the well-balanced company that is making such a great hit in Lowell.

One sold year at the Republic theatre in New York city is the record attained by this play, which is a powerful drama, whose vital theme and vigorous handling took metropolitan theatregoers by storm and which is to be featured here next week. The story of a poor girl's revolt against circumstances and her struggle for justice against overwhelming odds makes "Common Clay" easily one of the biggest, most human, and appealing plays of a decade and no one who is interested in a universal problem of humanity can afford to miss it.

The problem deals in the regeneration of womanhood in the person of Ellen Neal. Once a constant frequenter of a decaying music hall she enters the house of the wealthy Richard Fullerton, as a housemaid. Hugh, son of the master of the house, learns of her past through a mutual friend. He takes advantage of his knowledge, a child in hand and the mother makes her claim for a name for the little one. Fuller-ton engages a powerful lawyer and the case goes to court. A graphic courtroom scene brings an unexpected twist to the play as the supposed mother of the wayward servant is placed on the stand and reveals her past. You years later find the younger Fullerton and Ellen Neal meeting again, under wholly different circumstances than their first meeting. The smoldering love is ablaze anew and they marry, living happily ever after.

Seats may be obtained in advance by phoning the box office, 7640. The season subscription list is open still and offers an opportunity to theatre-goers to have seats of their choice held for their week after week, paying when calling for tickets. The Stanley James players have made a big hit in Lowell and it is difficult indeed to get seats for any performance save at the last moment. The box office is open daily from 10 o'clock until 5:30. "The First Year" will follow the week following "Common Clay."

Denishawn Dancers to Visit Lowell Again

RUTH ST. DENIS AND TED SHAWN

Those who love music know there always is a treat in store in the programs of the Denishawns, for Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn, aided by their musical director, Louis Horst, never fail to succeed in bringing music of the highest quality to the accompaniment of all their dances.

It is with keen anticipation, then, that music lovers await the coming of Miss St. Denis and Mr. Shawn and their supporting company to the Lowell Memorial Auditorium on Saturday, Oct. 26, just two weeks from today. In announcing the local appearance of the Denishawns, Daniel Mayer also makes it known that they be seen in matinee as well as evening performances, with prices within the reach of all, and more than 1000 matinee tickets available at the meagre cost of one dollar. The matinee program, too, will be especially designed to appeal to high school and Normal school young men and young women and to members of dancing classes, who are interested in the latest Denishawn creations.

But, back to music and the dance, which both Miss St. Denis and Mr. Shawn couple in harmony that is other-worldly. The impromptu of Arensky will be danced by Miss St. Denis in that poignant, wistful way which has made her "Liebestraum" and Brahms' waltz unforgettable memories. The New York Evening Post recently said of the "Liebestraum":

"Not to have seen Ruth St. Denis dance to the music of that lovely Brahms' Waltz (opus 39, No. 15) and to the 'Liebestraum' at some time in each life is to have missed one of the things of pure beauty on the contemporary stage. Here are joined perfectly music and the dance and the result is one that is inevitably thrilling. The fusion is like an exquisite poem. The 'Love's Dream' is touched with ineffable sadness as of a half-forgotten memory of some precious moment."

Miss St. Denis dances these two dances last evening at the Manhattan Opera House on the occasion of her annual visit to New York with Ted Shawn and the Denishawn Dancers. They were slight and unpretentious numbers on a long varied and interesting program, but they have been given no undue prominence, for they are masterpieces of perfection that one sometimes waits for a lifetime.

The program arranged by the Denishawns for this season is the best they ever have molded together and Lowell well knows the quality of the one given here a year ago.

"Broadway After Dark," at the Merrimack

SCENE FROM "BROADWAY AFTER DARK"

"A mighty drama of the lights and shadows of the world's playground," is the way one critic describes "Broadway After Dark," one of the feature attractions of the new program which opens at the Merrimack Square theatre Sunday afternoon, to continue Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. It features a cast which includes Adolphe Menjou, Anna Q. Nilsson and Carmel Myers.

The second feature for the first part of the week will be "Cornered," said to be the greatest mystery play of its time, with Marie Prevost in the undivided role.

Here are two big holiday attractions that should delight Lowell movie lovers. Either is of a calibre strong enough to stand alone, yet both will be shown at the usual Merrimack Square prices. Manager Peterson has also booked at St. John's latest and generally conceded funniest comedy, "Be Yourself." Here's a bill one will not equal in many weeks of travelling. It's worthy of any metropolitan playhouse.

"Broadway After Dark," the screen version of the renowned Owen Davis play, is said to be an honest attempt to reveal via the screen the soul of the world's greatest city, to show that beneath the outward glare and glamour of the Great White Way human hearts are the same.

Into the making of this picture has gone the splendid direction of Monta Bell, a sterling all-star cast, and a

PROGRAM IN FULL FOR GLUCK CONCERT HERE

From the program received in Lowell for the local appearance of Alma Gluck, it is apparent that the great American singer has selected a choice of songs well calculated to please a wide variety of good taste. Old and modern composers are included in her list. Etienne Zimballist, her husband, Rachmaninoff and Tchaikowski being some of the better known of the modern composers from which her repertoire has been picked. Handel, Mozart, Beethoven, Schubert are some of the older composers she has chosen. Her repertoire runs from the heavy and solemn selections from famous oratorios, and light songs, the very title of which would indicate an enjoyable group for the all-around lovers of music.

There is a possibility that Mme. Gluck may be entertained in Lowell. Miss Catherine V. Hennessey is anxiously awaiting word from the singer's manager, St. Hurok, in New York, as to whether Alma Gluck will reach Lowell in time to attend an informal luncheon with some of the best known singers in Lowell. Mme. Gluck sings tomorrow night in New York, and will rest up tomorrow. She is expected to take the midnight train from New York Monday night, and it so, will no doubt be willing to meet the Lowell singers. New York, by the way, is her first concert this year.

Albert Steiner, who is managing the concert series for M. Steinart & Sons Co., spoke the other day of the difficulty of escorting Alma Gluck for an appearance. The difficulty is not due to temperament, as the layman understands by that word, but rather by the limited time in which this famous concert singer engages. Right now, after 18 months of retirement, she is making a very short tour.

Lowell, thus, is very fortunate in securing Mme. Gluck for an appearance here. The advance sale indicates that Mme. Gluck will sing Tuesday night to a very flattering audience. Reservations may still be made at the local Steinart store, 130 Merrimack st.

The program in full for the concert is as follows:

Three Shows at Keith's Columbus Day

MADAME ADELAIDE HERRMANN

Felix Fernando's splendid orchestra will feature the program at the D. F. Keith theatre tomorrow afternoon and evening. So great has been the success of this organization here that Manager Pickett has decided to hold it over for one more day. The playing of waltzes and especially of typical Spanish music is wonderfully good. Another attraction for the day will be "Daddy," one of Jackie Coogan's best pictures. In getting this the management has secured a ton-strike. Other acts on the program are Glenn & Jenkins, in their comedy act; Judson Cole, magic and comedy; Lewis & Norton in a comedy, and Carl & Valeska Winters.

On Monday, Columbus Day, there will be three complete shows. The first will start at 1:30 p. m., and the second at 5 p. m. The evening performance will begin at 8 o'clock.

Bert Baker, who will be the coming week's feature act, is one of the comedy folk who believes that the success of a skit depends primarily upon an actor's knowledge of character and situations. Situations do not play themselves. "Revelation" is the title of the farce which Mr. Baker and

Sunday and Week Attractions at the Strand

SCENE FROM BUSTER KEATON'S "THE NAVIGATOR"

Buster Keaton in his newest comedy creation, "The Navigator," and Hope Hampton and Lowell Sherman in "The Truth About Women," are the features scheduled on The Strand program for the first part of the coming week, starting with the matinee on Sunday. It looks like a great bill.

Buster hired an ocean liner and sailed to Catalina Island, to make most of his scenes in "The Navigator," with the result that the offering guarantees more laughs than any of his former comedy efforts. The star had the liveliest time of his life doing his stunts. They put a sailor's suit on him and when he wasn't swabbing the decks, he was shovelling coal, tons of it, and when not engaged in that work he was romping about the ocean bottom. He sure had a great time winning the heart and hand of the object of his affection. But he won't. "The Navigator" tells the story of Kollo Treadway, a rich, spoiled youth

In Lowell, as in every industrial city, there are many children of real ability in both the Grammar and the High schools who cannot complete the school course because of lack of funds. A very small sum if assured each week, would be sufficient to keep a child in school until graduation. Many other cities have funds for this purpose, either contributed by private individuals or raised by public appeal.

The Lowell Teachers' Organization asks the same support and co-operation of the community in this cause that Lowell has always given to worthy enterprises.

THE ENTIRE PROFIT FROM THE SERIES WILL BE DEVOTED TO THE SCHOLARSHIP FUND.

ADDRESSED STUDENTS' AT TEXTILE SCHOOL

"The Health Body" was the subject of an interesting address given by Dr. G. Forrest Martin at the first of a series of assemblies of students at the Lowell Textile school yesterday. Dr. Martin discussed in his address in a non-technical manner the workings of the human body, and the interest of the students in his talk was shown by the tremendous applause accorded him at the conclusion of the address.

The student body took charge of the meeting following Dr. Martin's talk with Lawrence Guild as chairman. The speakers were Prof. Stephen E. Smith, who asked for support for the Ploquet, the annual school book; William V. Antonia, editor-in-chief of the Text, who spoke briefly concerning the school paper, and Prof. James G. Dow, who told of his plans for the coming textile show and also for forming a rifle club.

Captain Frederickson and Coach Cawley of the football squad both spoke in regard to today's game, and the cheer leaders, Everett Willey and John Vangor, led the gathering in a rehearsal of cheers for the game.

WELL, WE'VE COME THIS FAR ALREADY

CANNING FRUITS

Each winter found the Mann family cellar well laden with canned fruits and marmalades and jells and goods of all sorts "put up" by Mrs. Mann. In the preservation of foods by canning, the most essential things are the sterilization of the foods and the utensils as well and the sealing of the cans against germs.

It is not the oxygen of the air that plays havoc science has shown, but bacteria and microscopic organisms.

Cotton is now used to some extent in plugging both cans and bottles, for the bacteria cannot pass through sterilized cotton.

Thus if cans are opened in later months and the contents found to be spoiled, it will have been due to lack of care either in sealing or cooking.

When fruit is preserved with sufficient sugar the necessity of tight sealing is much less, as the thick sugary syrup is not favorable to bacterial growth.

"REGULAR" REPUBLICANS TO SUPPORT DEMOCRAT

SAYS COUNTRY NEEDS DOSE OF COMMON SENSE

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 10.—Luther A. Brewer, a republican who recently supported because of the latter's denunciation of the national republican ticket today announced his withdrawal from the race.

Brewer's withdrawal had been forecast in political circles here among with statements that a considerable group of "regular" republicans in Iowa planned to throw their support in the senatorial campaign to Daniel F. Stead, democratic candidate, rather than Senator Brookhart.

In a statement announcing his withdrawal, Mr. Brewer, who has been active in republican politics for many years, urged Iowa republicans to vote for the democratic nominee, declaring Senator Brookhart had renounced the republican party.

DAWES SPECIAL ENROUTE TO OMAHA, GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Oct. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—Charles G. Dawes, republican candidate for vice-president, began a day's campaigning in Nebraska with an address today in which he prescribed a "dose of common sense" for the ill of the country.

"We will never solve our problems by oratory or by demagoguery," he asserted. "We must take a dose of the medicine of common sense."

He devoted the major portion of his address at Grand Island to "this vicious attack being made on the constitution of the United States by a heterogeneous collection under Senator La Follette."

SAYS MRS. SWEETEN TO PLEAD NOT GUILTY

KILLED HIS MOTHER AND SISTER WITH AXE

BENTON, Ill., Oct. 10.—Mrs. Elsie Sweeten, who signed a confession that she poisoned her husband, Wilford, in a plot with Lawrence M. Hight, former Iowa clergyman, and confessed poisoner of her husband, would plead not guilty, R. E. Smith, her attorney, announced today.

"When all the facts are known, Mrs. Sweeten will be vindicated of the stigma that surrounds her," Smith said.

The attorney refused to comment further on the woman's probable defense.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 10.—Aquila Redditt, 24, mental defective previously believed harmless, killed his mother and a sister with an axe at their farm home near here yesterday. "They told me to do it," he babbled in the jail here today. Then changing his story to accuse "a woman," and then "a negro."

Mrs. Redditt and her daughter, Mary Lou, lived four hours after their skulls were crushed. Mildred, 14, Aquila's sister, escaped.

FAVORABLE WEATHER HELPS POTATO CROP

WAKEFIELD, Oct. 10.—Favorable September weather in northern states caused the country's potato crop to increase to a forecast, October 1, of 425,005,000 bushels from 412,761,000, the New England crop, reporting service of the United States department of agriculture announced today. The crop harvested in 1923 was 412,392,000, and the average from 1919 to 1923 is 390,722,000 bushels.

On a condition of 95.3 per cent normal as of Oct. 1, New England potatoes promise 46,755,000 bushels compared with 41,971,000, the forecast of Sept. 1. The harvested crop in 1923 was 47,162,000 and the average from 1919 to 1923 was 40,431,000 bushels.

Maine now promises 23,716,000 bushels, the report said, compared with 20,115,000 estimated last month, 32,000,000 bushels harvested last year and the five year average of 23,596,000 bushels. Moderate gains occurred in New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Connecticut and a big gain in Massachusetts from 3,260,000 bushels estimated last month to 3,940,000 on Oct. 1. Vermont reported a small decrease due to rot.

FAILURE TO INDICT SQUIRES DENOUNCED

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Oct. 10.—The charge that the grand jury which yesterday returned no indictment against Sir Richard Squires, former premier of Newfoundland, charged with larceny of public funds, was irregularly drawn and summoned, was made in supreme court, here today by the prosecuting counsel on the instructions of the attorney-general. Affidavits were presented in support of the charge.

The court granted counsel leave to mention the matter again tomorrow so as to allow further argument. In the meantime the grand jury, which intended to consider today the case of former liquor controller McManey, also charged with larceny of public money, was discharged until Monday.

The grand jury previously had returned a true bill against a man charged with murder and trial had been fixed for Oct. 15. Officials said all the findings of the jury would be cancelled if the charge of the prosecuting attorney is sustained.

30 DEAD AND MANY MISSING IN TYPHOON

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 10 (by the Associated Press). Thirty persons are dead and many are missing as the result of a typhoon which swept over the Cagayan valley, according to a telegram received today from the Cagayan provincial constabulary commander.

Total damage will reach several hundred thousand dollars according to reports.

ARGENTINA FLIER FORCED TO DELAY TRIP

KASUMIGAURO, Oct. 10.—(By the Associated Press) Disappointed thousands waited at the waterfront here throughout the day for the appearance of Major Pedro Zanni, Argentina aviator, who unexpectedly delayed his air cruise from Kagoshima, Japan, to this port, the air base for Tokyo, by landing at Kuchino, where he decided to remain for the night.

The weather forecast for tomorrow is unsettled. An elaborate banquet has been planned for Major Zanni tomorrow night at the flying base here.

TAXICAB DRIVERS STRIKE BOSTON, Oct. 10.—The entire driving staff of the Premier Taxicab Co., comprising 125 men, went on strike today in protest against a new wage schedule placed in effect by the company. The new scale provides for a guarantee of $3 a day and a commission on the drivers' receipts. The men formerly were paid a flat rate of $4 a day.

TRAVEL 10,000 MILES

Witnesses From Canal Zone Testify at Pothier Murder Trial

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 10.—Defense attorneys today continued their efforts to batter down the government charge that Roland H. Pothier, former sergeant-bugler of the 214th Engineers, murdered Major Alexander F. Cronkhite on the Camp Lewis military reservation, Oct. 25, 1918.

Lieut. E. R. Caffey, of the Canal Zone, and Captain John Zajicek, from the Philippines, both former members of the 214th Engineers, were on the stand yesterday as defense witnesses after having traveled close to 10,000 miles to appear.

Lieutenant Caffey, a member of Cronkhite's regiment and also a graduate of West Point, illustrated with a revolver similar to that carried by Major Cronkhite how a man could have inflicted on himself a wound such as that which proved fatal to Major Cronkhite.

This exhibition was in refutation of testimony by Dr. Otto H. Schultze and Captain William A. Jones of New York, who had declared that the tension of wrist and hand muscles while holding a gun in that position would have made impossible the use of the muscle to pull the trigger with the index finger.

WILL OF A. W. PRESTON

for probate today of the will of Andrew W. Preston, late president of the United Fruit company on which the principal provisions have been made public previously, disclosed that in a codicil made in June, 1923, Mr. Preston provided that any of his children, or their issue, who should associate with Eugene W. Ong, divorced husband of Mr. Preston's daughter, should be cut off from participation in the estate. Under the will the grandchildren are provided announced himself as an independent candidate for United States senator and at the same time declared Smith W. Brookhart did not merit republican for in certain trusts.

The codicil directs that "if they shall take the name of Ong or live with or habitually communicate with him or receive or accept from or give to him anything of value in the nature of gifts or other considerations" they shall cease to benefit under the trust and the property held in trust for them shall be treated as in the case of a beneficiary dying without issue.

The Bone and Sinew

The readers of THE SUN are the bone and sinew of Lowell. They are practically all Lowell people who have helped to make the city what it is.

They earn their living in Lowell; they spend their money in Lowell; they are the main support of the Lowell merchants.

SUN readers are not in the habit of running to Boston for their supplies. They trade at home.

They are the largest body of newspaper readers in the city, and few of them read any other paper because they don't need to.

There is only one way for the merchant to reach this large, thrifty, industrious and intelligent body of readers, and that is through the columns of THE SUN.

Michigan Hopes Charm Won't Fail

HERBERT STEGER

BY ERNEST L. LYNN

If there is anything at all in horse shoes, rabbits' feet and four-leaf clovers, then the University of Michigan is going to have another great season this year.

It is no reflection on the Maize and Blue at all to say it is relying on its charm, as well as on football brains and brawn, to pull the team through another undefeated season.

In Captain Herbert Steger, Michigan has something more than a doggo, good halfback. It has a symbol of good fortune and victory, Steger is Michigan's rabbit foot. In all the time he has been playing football he has yet to taste the unpleasant drags of defeat.

Steger's high school team never lost a game while he played on it. And neither has Michigan, although two of its victories last year—the games against Iowa and Wisconsin—were literally snatched from the very jaws of defeat.

Out of the Fire

Jack Blott, Michigan's All-American center last year, recovered a blocked Michigan kick and presented his team with the margin of victory in the Iowa game. Against Wisconsin, Tod Rockwell, substituting for Quar-ling on whether you like Michigan or Michigan's foes. One thing Yost's proteges did demonstrate, even though in both games they were played in a standard, was a thorough drilling in the rules of football.

At any rate, the winning of those two games didn't detract one iota from the supposed charm of Steger's presence on the team. To prove that the old rabbit's foot is still working this year, Michigan went out and licked Miami in its first game of the season by a terribly decisive score, Captain Steger providing a couple of the touchdowns.

Luck a Factor

The guy who says luck isn't a factor in football is just as crazy as the fellow who tries to do out one team's superiority over another by the comparative score system. For the last named are reserved some of the choicest billets in our very nicest asylums for the insane.

Among the many ironies of sport one simply must include the perverse fate that declines a star to play on a losing team and the smiling goddesses in winning roles.

Steger was one of the best backs in the conference last year. But you terback Uterix, persisted in stoking rigidity to the fundamental of football and running with the ball after he had been knocked over a number of times, although the Wisconsin, non-

OPENING OF THE LOWELL JUNIOR COLLEGE

The Lowell Junior college, a new development of the state university extension plan of instruction has captured the attention of Lowell men and women who are anxious for instruction of college grade. The enrollment there has already passed one hundred.

Lowell Junior college will serve the purpose of teaching college subjects to persons who want the knowledge without requiring them to leave the city. Classes will meet at 7:30 p. m. at Lowell high school.

The subjects include literature, composition, languages and mathematics. On Tuesday, Oct. 14, the opening night, Robert B. Masterson, of the Boston Teachers college, will instruct the class in English Composition. Dr. Bertha Reed Coffman, recently connected with the University of Chicago, will open a course on English Literature on Thursday, Oct. 15.

The study of Spanish will be taken up on Thursday evenings, beginning on Oct. 16. El Senor Carlos A. Monge will be the instructor. There will be a class for beginners and an advanced class for students who have had Spanish instruction previously.

The first of the mathematical courses, trigonometry, will hold its opening meetings on Friday, Oct. 17.

The class instructor will be Roland T. Pihl, mechanical engineer of the faculty of Lowell Textile school.

The course of economics, one of the most important on the program, will be under the direction of Prof. Francis J. Morgan of the Teachers college of Boston. The class meets Monday, Oct. 20.

In addition, Lowell has had usual number of state university extension courses for the fall season.

Frank O. Kreeger, formerly faculty member of Washington State university, widely known lecturer on psychology, will give two courses. Business psychology will start on Wednesday evening, Oct. 15, at 7:15 p. m., at the conference room of Lowell Electric Light Co. building on Market street.

Professor Kreeger's second class will meet in the afternoon at Lowell high school. The subject matter is advanced psychology for teachers, dealing with the discovery and solution of classroom problems. The class meets on Wednesday, Oct. 15, at 4:15 p. m.

The other classes and their places of meeting are as follows:

Appreciation of Opera, Thursday, Oct. 16, 7:15 p. m. at Lowell high school. Instructor, Robert E. Saul, director of music, Lawrence schools.

Public Speaking, Friday, Oct. 17, 7:15 p. m. Instructor, Edward A. Sullivan, Cambridge school department. The class meets at Lowell high school.

Radio, Friday, Oct. 17, 7:15 p. m. at Lowell Textile school. Instructor, Edwin A. Wells, radio expert.

Automobile Course (for car owners and operators), Monday, Oct. 20, 7:15 p. m. at Lowell high school. Instructor, John J. Gillette.

Accounting, Monday, Oct. 20, 7:15 p. m. at Lowell Textile school. Elementary and advanced classes. Instructors, Herbert J. Ball and Wilfred B. Maynard.

The class in parliamentary law will meet for the first time on Monday, Oct. 20, at 7:15 p. m. Lowell high school will be the place of meeting. Mrs. Elizabeth MacNamara will instruct.

Information on any of these courses may be had at the office of Hugh A. Molloy, superintendent of schools, who is co-operating with the division of university extension, Massachusetts department of education.

THE FEDERATION OF CATHOLIC ALUMNAE

The sixth biennial convention of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae will be held at the Hotel Stratford, Philadelphia, Oct. 15 to 25. The Massachusetts chapter will be represented by Miss Dora Clouston, governor, of Roxbury, and Miss Annie J. Devine, vice governor of this city. Mrs. John P. Saunders will act as delegate on the nominating committee, while Miss Katherine Scannell is in charge of the transportation. A special train has been chartered by the Boston members and will include those from Lowell.

The program is extensive and elaborate and the affiliated associations of the Pennsylvania chapter will be the hostesses for luncheon every day at the hotel.

The program will be given as follows:

Saturday—Reception at the Bellevue-Stratford to His Eminence Cardinal Dougherty.

Sunday—High mass in the cathedral with sermon by A. J. O'Boyle.

Luncheon at the convent of the Sacred Heart, Overbrook, Pa. Pageant, "Our Lady of the Federation," Metropolitan Opera House. Tea and reception at the Academy of Notre Dame, West Rittenhouse square.

Monday—Opening session, Mrs. Harry M. Benziger, presiding.

Tuesday and Wednesday—Department of social service, education and literature, meetings, Banquet.

The remainder of the week will be devoted to sightseeing tours, the members of the various alumnae being the hostesses.

FRATERNAL NEWS

Plans for a dancing party to be held at the Green Lantern two weeks from Monday were formulated at a meeting of the J. O. Boys, Thursday evening in the club room in Pawtucket street. President Raymond O'Brien was in charge of the meeting and considerable business was transacted.

A well attended meeting of the Young Women's Hebrew association was held Monday evening. Plans for a Halloween costume party and dance to be held at Highland club hall, Oct. 22 were discussed and several committee reports were made. Miss Rose Brown was named chairman of the social committee and will call a meeting of the committee in the near future.

CHELMFORD GARDEN CLUB

At a meeting of the Chelmsford Garden club at the Adams library yesterday afternoon, Edna C. Cutter of Dracut, gave an interesting talk on fall garden work, including the proper care of fruit, flowers and bulbs. An open forum followed, with an opportunity to ask questions. At the conclusion of Miss Cutter's part of the program, the club members adjourned to the library lawn where the planting of a Douglas fir tree, a gift from the club to the town, took place. Walter Merrill, park superintendent, planted the tree.

ANNUAL AUTUMN PARTY AND DANCE

The annual autumn party and dance of Lowell council, T. K. of C., was held in the Commodore ballroom last night and proved a big success. Music for dancing was supplied by Minner-Doyle's orchestra and a large crowd participated in the general dancing. The proceeds of the affair will be turned over to the building fund of the council. Edward F. Slattery, Jr., was general chairman of the event.

WILL SPEAK ON LIFE BEHIND PRISON WALLS

The League of Catholic Women will be addressed in Liberty hall on Sunday, Oct. 19, by Rev. Michael J. Murphy, chaplain of the state prison at Charlestown. His subject will be, "Life Behind Prison Walls." League membership tickets are available at the rooms in the Harrington building, Central street, and may be procured any afternoon or evening next week.

JEWISH FEAST

Success, the Jewish feast of the Tabernacles, will begin Sunday evening at twilight to continue for eight days and will be generally observed in the Hebrew churches of the city. The feast is a reminder of the 40 years the children of Israel spent in the wilderness.

GET-TOGETHER CLUB

The Get-Together club of public speakers, composed of men who took the public speaking course at the Y.M.C.A. last year, held a meeting and dinner at the "Y" last night. John Barrington presided in the absence of the president, Walter B. Cloutier. Plans were served under the direction of Mrs. Valentine Wilcott and Mrs. Bertha Brandon.

Menus for a Family

Taken by C. SISTER MARY

Breakfast—Sliced peaches, boiled rice, thin cream, waffles, sirup, buttered whole wheat toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Baked cheese, brown bread and butter sandwiches, fruit salad.

Dinner—Tomato bouillon, stuffed pork chops, baked sweet potatoes, apple sauce, pepper-celery-nut salad, whole wheat bread and butter, Spanish cream, milk, coffee.

Supper—Boiled, poached or scrambled egg should be served to a child under 10 years for his dinner. The bouillon, egg, apple sauce, a celery heart, whole wheat bread and butter, toast and milk provide a nourishing dinner for a growing child.

Baked Cheese

Six slices bread, 1/2 pound cheese, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, milk.

Grate cheese or cut in tiny dice. Cut crusts from bread. Butter baking dish and cover bottom with bread. Sprinkle thickly with cheese. Cover with a layer of bread and another layer of cheese. Cover with bread. Put salt and pepper in milk and pour over bread and cheese. It will take about 1 1/2 cups milk, depending on the thickness of the bread. Bake half an hour in a moderate oven.

Baked Sweet Potatoes

Four or five sweet potatoes, 2 tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup cream, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 12 marshmallows, dash nutmeg.

Wash potatoes and cook until tender. Remove skin and mash. Season with salt, pepper and nutmeg, and beat smooth. Beat in cream. Put in a buttered baking dish and cover with marshmallows out in quarters. Bake in a moderate oven until the marshmallows are a golden brown.

Spanish Cream

One and one-half tablespoons granulated gelatin, 2 cups milk, 2 eggs, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Soak gelatin in milk and let stand 15 minutes. Bring to scalding point, add sugar and salt. Remove from the fire and pour slowly over yolks slightly beaten. Return to double boiler and cook, stirring constantly until thick. Remove from heat and fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry and seasoned with vanilla. Pour into individual molds, dipped in cold water. Chill and serve with cream.

Washington Views of The Political Situation

South Dakota, Washington, Iowa, Montana and Oregon. These have a total of 61 electoral votes. He may carry others also.

These are the states regarded either as surely for John W. Davis, the democratic candidate, or likely to be carried by him:

Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia. These have a total of 137 votes.

With New York state he would have 242 votes.

These are the states regarded as fully safe for President Coolidge or likely to be carried by his ticket. Although there is doubt about Rhode Island:

California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Utah, Vermont and Wyoming. These have a total of 225 votes, or one less than a majority, 266, of the 531 electoral votes, which a candidate must have to win and prevent the decision going to congress. It is believed that New York will have four more than necessary to elect. Never was New York more of a pivotal state than this year.

Indeed it is believed that the returns from that state will tell the story as soon as they are known the night of Nov. 4th. If Davis carries New York state, the public is very likely to learn the following day that he is clearly elected or else that the election has been deadlocked. The fiercest battling of the campaign is in New York and it is scarcely less bitter in Illinois, Missouri and Indiana.

The average state of mind in the various headquarters here today is about as follows:

Republican—is not absolutely or satisfactorily certain that Coolidge will carry enough states to keep the election out of congress but has deep-rooted confidence that the silent conservative vote will make the presidential decisive winner.

Democratic—Confident Davis will carry New York and enough other states to give him the election and that if the election be thrown into these hands, Davis will have an easy victory.

La Follette—Confident that his school of political philosophy will control and exercise balance of power in next congress, as it does in this, but knows he cannot win except by a great popular sweep the results of which have not yet been detected.

The Coolidge campaign has been held consistently to a policy mapped out before the republican convention at Cleveland in June; the main idea is to appeal to the conservative elements of both the republican and democratic parties to rally against the "common danger" of La Follette and the main point of appeal is to charge that La Follette intends to demolish or abolish the constitution.

But the Coolidge campaign really rests upon the popular picture of the president in the public opinion when he was nominated for vice president in 1920 and again when he came to the presidency a little more than a year ago. The result of the campaign will show whether or not the bright clearness of this picture has been dimmed.

The national weekly magazine of limited circulation has had a man up in New England during the summer investigating the president's career from his cradle days and devotes its entire current issue to an attempt to prove that he is not the big man his friends regard him. This will be the only article circulated by the president's political opponents, who allege such attacks are eagerly eaten up outside of New England. The republican managers insist, however, that little had been made upon the good opinion of the president's admirers. Democratic headquarters have announced a very noticeable change in sentiment in favor of Davis which it continued may presage a victory for the democratic ticket.

It Was Through Real Faith That Columbus Discovered America

LIFE OF CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS A BEAUTIFUL STORY

The life of Christopher Columbus is a story of faith.

It is a beautiful story, as history recites, because it is filled with trust of men and brave confidence in self.

Perhaps faith came easily to Columbus because he was deeply religious by nature.

But it was a gift that served him in good stead.

It handed down his name to posterity as discoverer of the New World.

Leading Faith

Faith at the outset enabled him to brave the wise men of his time and tell them that the world was round when they believed it flat.

Faith it was that aided him with fortitude when twice on the outward voyage a mutinous and terrified crew made ready to cast him overboard.

Land had not been sighted and the sailors grew afraid.

They had been taught that on the edge of the horizon was a precipice and that any ship venturing near the edge would plunge off into limitless space.

Stilled Fears

Through his faith, Columbus stilled their fears. He changed his course to soothe them and on the morning of October 12, 1492, the island of San Salvador hove in view.

Columbus was born a poor boy in the city of Genoa, Italy, some time between August 26, 1451, and October 31 of the same year. Confused accounts have made the exact date uncertain.

His father's name was Domenico Colombo, who was a weaver by trade.

And the maiden name of his mother was Susanna Fontanarona.

Up until 1472 Columbus followed in the business of his father.

He had neither university instruction nor was he at any time a navigator during his youth.

Family of Artisans

All of the family were artisans. Columbus came into the world with nothing but a strong, clean body, honest parents and his faith.

He is last heard of as having permanent residence in Italy on August 7, 1473. Followed several trips in merchantmen to England and once almost to Iceland.

During 1477-78 he was engaged in commerce in Lisbon and in 1479 married one Felipa Moniz Perestrelo of the same city, who bore him a son whom he called Diego.

All the while he was working on his new theory of a round world and lands undreamed of beyond the setting sun.

Queen Gave Jewels

It is a matter of history how Queen Isabella gave him her jewels with which he equipped his three tiny vessels, the Nina, the Pinta and the Santa Maria.

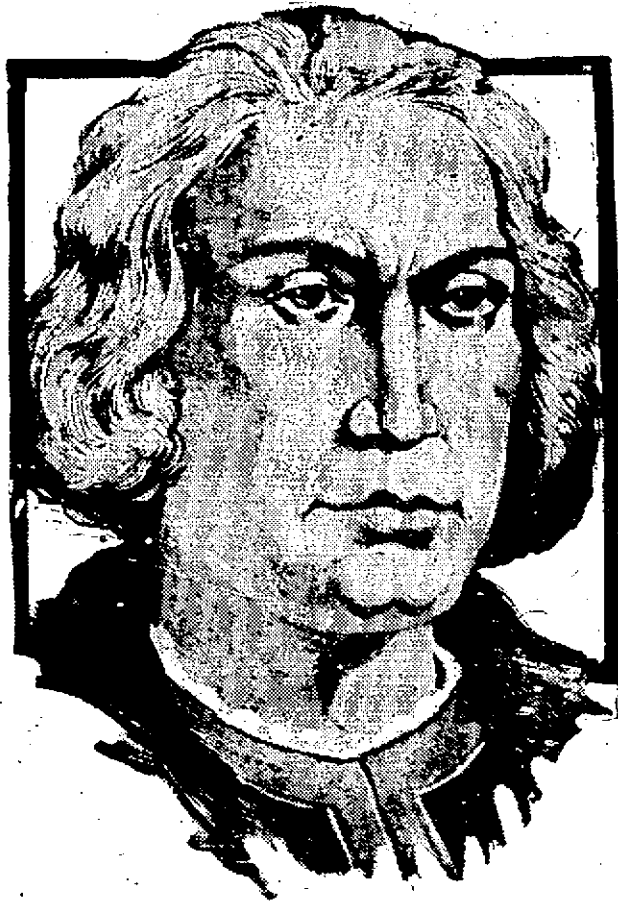

Setting sail from Palos, August 3, 1492, he proved his convictions, brought glory to the crown of Spain and happiness to mankind. This all happened because he had faith.

Christopher Columbus

MEMORIALS TO COLUMBUS DOT THE UNIVERSE

Christopher Columbus probably has been honored with a greater number of memorials than any other character of history.

Italy, the land of his birth, is dotted with monuments of him, the statue in Genoa being the most noteworthy.

In Spain, the land to which he owed most of his achievements, there are many cities named after him, and the Columbus monuments in Madrid and Barcelona are among the finest in the Spanish kingdom.

However, the western hemisphere has done most to honor the great navigator's memory. Almost every capital city from Cape Horn to the Arctic circle can show one or more statues of Columbus.

At least one city is named after him in every South American country. Practically every one of our states has a town, or a county, or both named after Columbus. The national capital is located in the District of Columbia, and Columbus, Columbia, Columbian are among the commonest names on the map.

Most of the statues of Columbus are of two distinct types—those the sailing ship, copies or imitations of the celebrated Galleon statue, and those of a more realistic sort.

One of the outstanding Columbus monuments in the city of Washington is erected directly in front of the Union station.

It is a marble fountain and shows Columbus enveloped in a cloak. At his back is a globe flanked by symbolic eagles, and before him is the prow of a ship.

The whole work is executed in pure white marble and it deservedly ranks among the masterpieces that have been executed in memory of Columbus.

Columbus Map is Believed One Found in Files

The map which Christopher Columbus used when he sailed west in 1492, and inadvertently discovered America, is believed to be the one which was found, some months ago, in the dusty files of the French National library.

It was discovered by the director of documents for the library, and is a map drawn on skin, showing Africa, down to the Cape of Good Hope, as well as Asia Minor and Europe.

Beside it, on a smaller scale, is a world chart, giving the conception of the earth as a sphere in the center of nine spheres, the continents then known forming an island surrounded by four oceans.

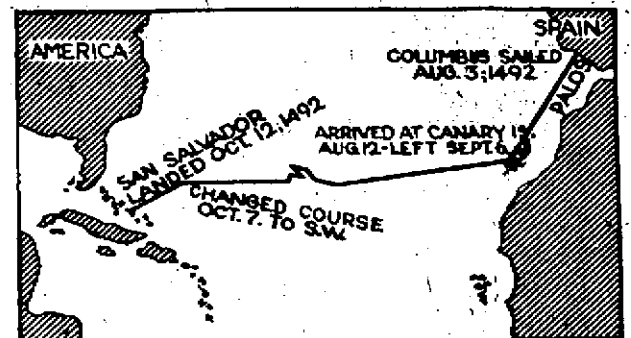

It is the belief that the map was made under the personal direction of Columbus, less than four years before the discovery of America. The world chart contains no trace of America or its islands.

The Cape of Good Hope was discovered in 1488, and the West Indies in 1492, making it apparent that the document was produced between the two dates.

All of the inscriptions are in Latin. The archipelago of Cape Verde is marked with the inscription which begins, "These islands are called, in the Italian tongue, Capo Verde, in Latin Cape Vert."

This and other inscriptions lead to the conclusion that the draftman of the map was an Italian.

ture will pay the same substantial fine as those in the past, but the jail sentence will be suspended, provided the defendant has never been arrested for the same offense before.

The rule will not hold, however, if the defendant has figured in a collision in which personal injury has been done. Neither will time be given to pay the fine. When convicted, the defendant's license will be revoked automatically.

The first test of the new ruling was applied today when James B. Carwell of Charlestown, charged with operating an automobile while drunk, was fined $100 and sentenced to 15 days in the house of correction. The jail sentence was suspended and defendant was placed on probation for 15 months.

Paul Lagasse of this city was similarly dealt with.

Andrew J. Mitzevitch of Billerica, in addition to the fine and suspended sentence for drunken driving, was fined $10 for operating a machine without a license, and $10 for driving without a registration certificate.

The above revisions are due to the fact that the superior court docket is being filled up with appeal cases.

MONDAY IS NOT POSTAL HOLIDAY

Next Monday is not a postal holiday and Postmaster Delisle announced this morning that the postoffice and its sub stations will be open as usual until noon and one complete mail delivery will be made by the carriers on this day. The postmaster explained that while Monday is a holiday in Massachusetts, it is not generally observed throughout the country, especially in the southern and western states, and is not set aside by the postmaster-general as a postal holiday. Local postmasters have not the authority to declare full holidays and Mr. Delisle has done all he has the power to do in making Monday a half-holiday for employees of the local office.

members and the officers are hopeful of a very fine showing. The exercises at the hall after mass are in a new departure and an overflow attendance is looked for.

Bishop Delany Assembly

Tomorrow is the annual communion Sunday for the fourth degree. Rev. James P. Lynch, faithful friar, will officiate at services in St. Michael's church at 8 o'clock. The members will meet at K. of C. hall, Harrington building at 7:30 a. m.

At the church a special musical program will be given by the fourth degree choir under the direction of Edward F. Slattery, Jr. Mrs. Ella Kelly Toy will be at the organ. The members of the assembly will have seats in the main aisle and the seating arrangements will be under the direction of a corps of ushers from the assembly consisting of J. Walter McKenna, John E. Hart, William H. Gallagher, Patrick J. Nevin, Dr. Richard J. McCluskey and Thomas B. Delaney. After mass breakfast will be served and exercises held at Marie's American house restaurant.

In the afternoon the Lowell fourth degree knights will participate in a big parade in Newburyport. It is expected that this event will be the biggest of its kind ever held in Essex county. Special trains will go from Lawrence, Haverhill and Lynn, carrying thousands of paraders. The prediction is that nearly 4000 men will be in line. Dr. T. Francis Healey of Newburyport will be chief marshal.

Bishop Delany assembly will have a place of honor, following next to Newburyport council. John C. McQuaid, faithful pilot will be marshal of the Lowell men and the Lowell Cadet band will furnish music. The parade will finish at a central point where benediction will be given in the open. After benediction there will be an address by Hon. Michael Cashman, mayor of Newburyport, who will be chairman. The orator of the day will be Hon. John Barrett, chairman of the Pan American commission.

The arrangements for Columbus day celebrations by the council and assembly are in the hands of Grand Knight Charles J. Landers and Faithful Navigator John V. Donoghue.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Cyprien Chouinard of 203 High street was knocked down by an automobile operated by Miss Gertrude Landis of 125 Fort Hill avenue in High street shortly after 7 o'clock evening. He was taken to St. John's hospital where he is being held for observation.

Priest Pays Glowing Tribute to the Memory of Christopher Columbus, the Christ Bearer

The following able article on Columbus day is from the pen of Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan, pastor of St. Mary's church, Collinsville, well known as chaplain of the Knights of Columbus.

Columbus' day belongs to America and to the world. It is America's first, to be sure, but so great and of such far-reaching influence was the thing done on this day, four hundred and thirty-two years ago, that its significance cannot be limited by the boundaries of even so vast a country as ours.

On this day, nearly four and a half centuries ago, was achieved what from the beginning men had thought impossible. Geographers had dreamed of something beyond the blue expanse of the mighty waters that layed the shores of the old world and some few had dared to cross the turbulent bosom of the windswept sea in an attempt to solve the mystery of what lay beyond. Fleets were fitted out only to be tossed back upon their native shores, empty-handed and the well of mystery still hid the promised land from view.

In time, however, came the day when an intrepid mariner, inspired from on high, filled with the indomitable courage that fires great souls to the doing of great things even in the face of glaring obstacles, possessed of a determination that never balked, appeared on the scene, and after years of tremendous toil, lifted the dark veil and gave to the ages the opportunity to look upon the fairest land among the nations of the world.

Little did he know that he was making a history before which nations yet unborn would stand in reverential awe to do him honor. Nor did he even think that he was forging a link in the golden chain of the emancipation of man. With his great work the past dies and a new day dawns for civilization and humanity.

The new-found land was the first in all the long and varied histories of the nations to be dedicated and sanctified by the cross of Jesus Christ, and from this dedication and this sanctification came the first thought of the equality of men and the first blow was struck for freedom.

Great was the achievement, great was the man, but greater still and above it all the cross, its almighty Victim, and its tremendous meaning.

This day, then, belongs not alone to America but to the world, and all the world should proclaim Oct. 12 an International Holiday.

All honor to the fearless Admiral, the great Genoese, Christopher Columbus, the Christ-bearer. It is not without significance that his name Christopher means Christ-bearer, the messenger of the gospel of Him who is greater than kings and emperors and yet paradoxical as it may seem, lowly with the down-trodden and the oppressed. The knight of the mighty, yet filled with a charity that stoops to break the shackles from the limbs of the slave, places about the shoulders of the poor the royal robe of comfort and showers down upon the lowly a love and affection that takes from poverty its sting and steals from the hand of might its victory.

It is not now to be denied that Columbus dared to face the dashing waves, the violent storms of ocean, the numberless perils of the deep, not until he had crossed the trackless deep for the rule, but for the priceless jewels of human souls. In a word he gave a new world to the Savior of the Cross, the cross to the new world as its standard. He called his landing place San Salvador as if to refute for all time, the sentence of forfeiture for the government of commerce, and for the lust of rule, but for the priceless jewels of human souls. Will Observe Their Golden Wedding

MR. AND MRS. F. N. A. HURTUBISE

Mr. and Mrs. F. N. A. Hurtubise of 100 Fort Hill avenue were married at Watertown, Wis., Oct. 12, 1874, by the Rev. William Corby, C.S.C., and tomorrow they will observe the 50th anniversary of their wedding. Before marriage Mrs. Hurtubise was Miss Alice E. Kennedy. Although not blessed with children, Mr. and Mrs. Hurtubise have spent their fifty years of married life very happily and still enjoy good health. Mrs. Hurtubise has passed through a period of illness, but has been restored to health largely through a stay of several months last year in Florida, where she and Mr. Hurtubise enjoyed the climate and change of scene immensely.

Mr. Hurtubise learned the printing business at Watertown, Wis., and coming to Lowell in February, 1872, he entered the employ of the old Vox

MATRIMONIAL

BAKER-BAGSHAW

Mr. Chester H. Barker and Miss Ruth E. Bagshaw, two popular local residents were united in marriage last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bagshaw in Jenness street. Rev. J. Field Speer, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church performed the ceremony. Mr. Ralph M. Barker, brother of the bridegroom and Miss Helen M. Bagshaw attended the couple. The house was prettily arranged for the occasion with cut flowers, palms and autumn leaves. Mrs. James Randall of Methuen played the wedding march. The bride wore a gown of white satin crepe trimmed with white rosebuds and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid was attired in powder blue, Canton and carried tea roses. The gift of the bride to her attendant was a Canoe ring while the best man was presented a white gold stick-pin, the gift of the bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Barker left on an extended wedding tour to the White Mountains and upon their return they will reside at 53 Norcross street. Mrs. Barker was formerly a member of the clerical staff of the Lowell Silk mills. Mr. Barker is connected with the Lowell Gas Light company.

Democratic Hold Another Big Rally

When these textile mills are active, the operative has work and wages; and it is the money out of his pay envelope that keeps every other industry, business and profession in the Merrimack valley going, and incidentally adds to the wealth and prosperity of the whole state. Never forget this plain truth. We are all dependent upon one another; what affects one part of Massachusetts eventually affects every other part. If you cast a stone into a pond and it throws up a circle that in time touches every part of that pond; and in like fashion what keeps or hurts any particular community in Massachusetts, eventually helps or hurts every other community. That is the unchanging economic law we all must live under. Because of this law Boston cannot stand by silent and indifferent when the mills of this valley are idle and their workers are walking the streets unemployed, eating up their savings and trembling for the future. Whether you work or play, labor or loaf, the rent must be met, the house kept warm, your family be fed and clothed and protected, and if you have no wages coming in to pay, you must draw on your savings and weaken the security you planned for the future of your children and the days when age and infirmity will prevent you earning a living.

Today there is much unemployment, much suffering, much anxiety in this Merrimack valley, for the mills are either shut down or working only part time. I have no hesitation in saying that the republican party which is in power in the nation and state is directly responsible for these conditions, for it is the indifference of republicans in congress and on Beacon Hill, to the welfare of the workers and the industries that sustain them that is the root of our industrial and economic ills.

The prosperity of all industries depend upon their ability to manufacture and sell their products all the year around. If industrial workers are to have constancy of work and wages the mills must be able to market what they make with certainty, regularly and profit. The answer to all industry is markets. If you can't sell what you make, you must shut down, and the worker goes into the street.

Massachusetts industrially has shut down and the shadow of unemployment is over its people here in the Merrimack valley and elsewhere. I charge that the republican machine and the republicans in congress and the state legislature have not only neglected to help the industries of this state but have deliberately betrayed and injured them.

American industry is today making enough goods in 7 months to supply the American domestic market and unless markets abroad are provided for the product of the other 5 months, the mills must stop working, or the domestic market will be glutted with the usual result—price-cutting, short-time work and reduced wages.

The administration, in which Massachusetts holds the reins of power, refused to send American ships to Boston to take care of our foreign trade; and the interstate commerce commission, all politicians, has so regulated railroad rates, that shipments of export goods and commodities are sent through other ports. The result is that the products of the valley, made within 30 miles of Boston are sent to New York 200 miles away for shipment abroad, adding to the expense of marketing increased freight to the most expensive shipping point on the Atlantic coast.

If the republican machine were to lift its finger this condition would be altered. Ships would be sent to ship your goods, and bring your raw materials; and were the interstate commerce commission called to account Boston would have the same railroad rates to and from the west that the favored ports have and industry here to ship your goods and the vast superior maritime facilities, to the prosperity of all concerned.

I charge without fear of successful disproof that the administration and the representatives of Massachusetts in congress have been false to our interests and are the authors of this valley and commonwealth and until we get rid of them we will continue to suffer.

Democracy to Europe than any other and is a day nearer Panama and the east and west coasts of South America over safer sea routes than any of its rivals. Boston at one time was the busiest port in America; but politics, politicians and combinations of antagonistic interests have worked to make this splendid harbor empty of shipping. Let us get rid of the slackers and traitors in Washington and on Beacon Hill and we will bring Boston back.

The republican party in Massachusetts has steadily refused to bring up Boston harbor to its full possibilities; under the false plea of a spurious economy it refused to borrow the money needed to dredge and deepen the harbor, make the idle dangerous state the potential sites of docks, warehouses and factories that will bring shipping in spite of artificial obstacles and bring us back our prosperity.

The Cox administration claims it has saved money; it has by starving enterprises, neglecting progress and improvements and allowing the port to decay. That kind of economy is waste; it is meaningless and penny pinching that is spent to produce money, to multiply industry, work and wages, to stimulate enterprise and growth is well spent. If the state will not use its wealth to move up it will move down. Public money spent on fruitless public projects and on a broadening the republicanism is like the seed corn planted by a farmer; in due season it produces a harvest that is a hundred fold of the seed sown. Yet the Massachusetts republicans refuse to spend the money to dredge and deepen Boston harbor and prepare it for the growth of the next half century.

The richest commonwealth outside of New York in the republic through the petty spirit, short-sighted policy and lack of vision into its hopes to make a great port at the door of New York and is succeeding; and the state of Alabama has faith enough in its future to spend some $10,000,000 to take care of the commerce that the port of Mobile sees ahead of it. Everywhere the world is up and doing; but Boston lags behind stinging of the powers that be; and the industry and commerce of the whole commonwealth suffers and the Merrimack valley sits in industrial silence and suffering.

Where are the resolutions, initiative and vision of the men who made Boston's name a household word on all the seven seas and by commerce and courage wrested the wealth from the sea that built up the industries of this Merrimack valley? Where are the men who made Massachusetts and their spirit? Not in the republican party of Massachusetts, which sends a lot of its adventurous politicians to Washington and Boston to misrepresent us and destroy the sources of our prosperity.

Let us get rid of them and so get rid of the political schemers and adventurers who are destroying the vital interests of Massachusetts. Demand an account of the stewardship of your representatives. Ask them to explain why the U. S. shipping board is allowed to drag ships and service to Massachusetts and Boston? Ask them why the arbitrary Interstate Commerce Commission, all political lame-ducks amenable to political pressure, has been permitted to penalize Boston and Massachusetts for the enrichment of Philadelphia and Baltimore by violating the spirit of the law and the mandate of the constitution and deliberately compelling the export and import trades of the west and northwest to keep away from Boston by setting up prohibitive freight charges by rail and sea? Ask the men who go to Boston Hill why they have let the money of the people on fly-by-night projects and have allowed the port of Boston to decay and its trade to vanish?

They will not answer; they dare not tell you the truth. They have betrayed their trust and have been more intent upon selling the loyalty of their office than in serving the people, their industry and their interests. They have been weighed in the balance and found wanting; and because of their faithlessness, the Merrimack Valley is idle today, its mills are silent and you people are walking the streets unemployed with winter at your door. The cure of these evils lies in your own hands—the ballot of the American freeman and you must use it righteously and wisely on November 4, and drive out the authors of your troubles, the republican party, from office and power.

You must make all political parties understand that industry, commerce, work, wages, home and happiness cannot be made the football of politics. You must defeat and rebuke the men and the party that have proven false to you and put the affairs of the nation and state in stronger hands, more loyal servants, who will serve you with courage and fidelity.

This republican party has played Judas to the people of the Commonwealth; it has betrayed and sold them; you can hear the jingle of the thirty pieces of silver in its pockets. Your duty is plain, the duty you owe your home, your family, yourself—destroy the party that the politicians that have put you out on the streets.

TWO SEPARATE DISTRICT COURT SESSIONS

The lengthy list of continued cases on this morning's district court blotter necessitated two separate court sessions. Judge Enright presided at the regular sitting while Judge Fisher was on the bench in the court of second sessions.

William J. Carney, charged with being drunk, was sentenced to 5 months in the house of correction by Judge Enright. Joseph Kozoll, drunkenness, was given a one month's suspended sentence, continued to Oct. 25.

Rene Chaudonnet, charged with the larceny of a bottle of liquor, was allowed to plead nolo, and the case was filed. Paul Legasse, drunkenness and operating an automobile while drunk, was continued to Oct. 25.

Frank Krol of Manchester, N. H., drunkenness and operating while drunk, was continued for one week. The case of Elias Kolofolakis, charged with larceny, was filed.

John J. Nichols and Theodore Maynard, both charged with breaking, entering and larceny, were continued for one week.

Wilfred E. Angers was found guilty of non-support and was given a suspended sentence of five months on condition that he turn over $13 per week to the probation officer for his wife's support.

Martin Zelinski, illegal keeping and maintaining gaming apparatus, was continued to next Saturday.

Bronislaw Takowski was found guilty of illegal keeping and was continued one week for sentence. Jennie Tresiak, illegal keeping, was found not guilty and was discharged.

Louis Charos and James Manousos, illegal keeping, were continued for two weeks.

In Judge Fisher's court, Josephine Morin paid a fine of $100 for illegal keeping.

GAME ON NORTH COMMON

The Tiger A. A. football team will line up against the Butler B. B. team tomorrow afternoon on the North common at 2:30 o'clock. In a recent game with the Butlers and Tigers a dispute arose and as it wasn't settled the teams intend to settle it tomorrow's game. George McDonough will play fullback for the Tigers. A large crowd is expected as this is their second game.

A recent egg-laying contest in England was won by a scrappy-looking Rhode Island Red that laid 312 eggs in 308 days.

Massachusetts mills, have gone to Houston to work with Mr. Mitchell in the new mill which has substantial financial backing by extensive oil interests in Texas.

It is believed actual operations will begin next week and that the mill will specialize in the production of cotton blankets. There are orders ahead to insure an and night operation. Mr. Tucke will take the position of night superintendent, with Mr. Mitchell as general agent and day superintendent. Lowell persons will be interested in the operation of the mill and the success of the local men involved.

Gen. Guillaumat Placed at Head of French Force in the Rhineland

Replaces Gen. Degoutte, Who Declined to Lead Troops Out of Section

PARIS, Oct. 11.—General M. L. A. Guillaumat, member of the superior war council, was appointed at a cabinet meeting today to the command of the French troops in the Rhineland, replacing General Degoutte, who has held the Rhineland command during the Ruhr occupation and who has asked to be relieved from this duty. General Degoutte was quoted at the height of the Ruhr occupation period as saying he went into the Ruhr gladly, but if the government wanted the troops taken out it would have to get someone else to do it.

TO LAUNCH COMMUNITY CHEST CAMPAIGN

A community chest campaign to collect funds for the charitable and social service organizations which are members of the Lowell Community Chest association, will be conducted in this city the early part of November. This announcement was made at a meeting of the directors of the association yesterday afternoon in the chamber of commerce rooms. Experienced community chest campaign managers will be brought to this city to conduct the campaign. It was also announced. This action was taken because the directors felt that it would be almost impossible to secure a Lowell man to give the time necessary for the work.

The campaign to collect funds will cover a period of three days or more, but the preliminary work such as making up an organization of 200 workers to solicit throughout the city and getting publicity ready will take from six to eight weeks before the intensive campaign is launched.

Yesterday's meeting was presided over by Chairman Elmore T. Merrill of the directors and eight of the twelve board members were present. The committee named at the last meeting of the board to investigate methods of conducting a community chest campaign reported that it favored the employment of experienced managers and recommended that the American City Bureau be engaged for this work. The committee consisted of Benjamin S. Poussier, Donald M. Cameron and Mrs. J. Gilbert Hill.

The recommendation of this subcommittee was unanimously accepted and the committee voted unanimously to have the drive get underway as early in November as possible. The community chest idea is to do away with individual drives by each of the charitable and social service organizations and to gather these organizations together, form a central organization, have each separate home or service league submit a budget, and then conduct a drive to collect, within a week at the most, the money required by the various organizations to carry on their work for a year.

In recent years, under the old plan, there have been drives carried on almost weekly and a certain group of people have been called upon to bear the brunt of the donations. Under the community chest plan, the organizations in itself will last but a week, each person will be solicited but once for the organization in the community chest association, and the contributions, instead of coming from a small group, will be received from the general public.

The budgets submitted to the Lowell association call for about $125,000 and this sum will be the goal of the drive in November. The methods of conducting the campaign and all the preliminary work in connection with it will be left in the hands of the American City Bureau if this company can be secured to take charge here.
